NATIVE AMERICAN HERITAGE MONTH

Honoring the Circle of Health: Cultural Humility in Health Care with Native American Communities

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 2020 12:00 p.m. - 3:30 p.m. EST

A free VIRTUAL EVENT open to the public – Registration required
https://zoom.us/meeting/register/tJMuCuyurzguEtGvcDAlb36O8kheIZV6DLr

Traditional Welcome – Smudge and Hand Drum
Jonathan Rinehart, LMSW, ADS, Citizen of the Little Traverse Bay Bands of Odawa Indians

Traditional Healer
Keith Smith, Red Lake Chippewa

Legacies of Historical Trauma: From the Ziibiwing Center to the California Missions
Martin Rizzo, Ph.D., State Park Historian, California Department of Parks and Recreation

American Indians 101
Rebecca Hernandez, Ph.D., Director of the American Indian Resource Center at UCSC

Personal Reflections: We are All Teachers – Gi-gikinomaage-min
Paula Hill, RN, BSN, Little Traverse Bay Bands of Odawa Indians, WMU Alumna
Tristan Podlasek, Lac Courte Oreilles Ojibwe, WMU President of the Native American Student Association

Centering Native Health: Honoring, Learning, and Healing
Tyler Migizii Migwan, MS, Assistant Director, Upper Peninsula at Health Care Solutions
Dee Sherwood, Ph.D., MSW, MPA, Western Michigan University MSW Program Coordinator

Standing Rock: Water Protectors, Resistance, and Resilience
Belinda Bardwell, MPA (She/Her/Hers), Citizen of the Little Traverse Bay Bands of Odawa Indians, Native American Student Initiative Coordinator at GVSU

California Indian History, Historical Trauma, Adverse Childhood Experiences & ICWA
Tamara L. Strohauer, MSW, ASW, San Diego State University, School of Social Work

Closing Music – A Tribe Called Red

Sponsored by: Western Michigan University Homer Stryker M.D. School of Medicine