

2nd Annual Medical Education Research and Innovation (MERI) Conference

WSU School of Medicine

December 8, 2020

In the Oral Presentation division, Dermatology Program Director Steven Daveluy and SOM student Meredith Hengy presented "A video-based training program can effectively teach the derroofing technique for treatment of hidradenitis suppurativa to emergency department residents."

In the Poster division, Otolaryngology residents Michael Chung, Jared Johnson, and Program Director Jeff Hotaling co-authored a poster with SOM students on "The impact of the COVID-19 pandemic on otolaryngology fellowships: A national survey of fellowship program directors." Senior Associate Dean and DIO of Graduate Medical Education Tsveti Markova and GME Director of Education Brent Stansfield collaborated with SOM faculty, staff, and students on a poster entitled "The medical student check-in survey to assess student wellness: What our students say and what WSUSOM can do." In collaboration with Dept. of Family Medicine and Public Health faculty, Dr. Markova was also co-author of a poster on "Exploring global public health and social determinants of health through an interdisciplinary approach." Internal Medicine Associate Program Director Vesna Tegeltija, IM Program Director Sarwan Kumar, and IM faculty members Mohammad Fityan and Zain Kulairi presented a poster on "Tracking professionalism during residency training." A WSUSOM leadership team including Steven Daveluy presented a poster on "Development and implementation of scholarly concentrations for individualized medical student experience," which won third place in the Poster (innovation) category.